

In a recent Quick Poll done by AKC, American kennel club, people were asked what areas of canine first aid they would like to be more knowledgeable about.

The results were: 22% basic, 28% canine CPR and rescue breathing, 18% cuts and bleeding, 23% choking and only 8% were comfortable with their canine first aid knowledge

So the question that begs to be asked is.....what would you answer? If you're like 92% you want to attend the canine first aid class being offered Saturday May 29, 2010. You will learn all the above and so much more with lots of time to practice. Look what some people have said about this great class....

D.S. "Within less than a month I used the skills I learned in class, before this class I would have been running around not knowing what to do." P.T. "when one of my dogs ripped open her side on a tree when running, I was prepared because of my training and the first aid kit I'd put together after the class. Thank you." V.S. "The first weekend after the class my dog swallowed a toy but I knew what to do immediately." D.M. "I didn't know how much I didn't know. WOW, was I surprised! I highly recommend this class" M.K. "I took the class from another organization, this one was at least 10Xs better!"

Don't wait until it's too late, learn what to do, when to do it, and how to do it, before an emergency. Your pets will thank you. Class is held at From the Heart Dog Training Center, 561-I Brunken Ave., Salinas
